EDUCATION

2:00 10/04/2010 5PM

Nose Piercing Controversy

Ariana Iacono has been suspended from Clayton High School since last month. She and her mother belong to a religious group called the Church of Body Modification. The school says the nose piercing violates the dress code. The ACLU says they are now weighing their legal options

2:00 10/05/2010 5PM

Teacher Of The Week Carole Barber

Carole Barber runs a tight ship in her honors geometry class at Fuquay Varina High School.

2:00 10/06/2010 5PM

Neighborhood Schools

There's no doubt that passions were high last night. There was bickering, even name-calling between some board members. The conservative board member who sided with the majority against the plan says she is still in favor of neighborhood schools. Several board members I spoke with today say they are confident they will come together and find a plan that works.

2:00 10/06/2010 5PM

Assignment Zones

This is a dramatic turn of events for the Wake County school board. Four new members ran on a platform of neighborhood schools were voted in and formed a new majority with Board Chair Ron Margiotta.

2:00 10/07/2010 5PM

Principal Of The Year

Dana King was named Wake County Principal of the Year. King is principal at Millbrook Magnet High School.

2:00 10/09/2010 5:30PM

Nose Ring Suspension

She was forced to miss 22 days of school, because any facial piercing violates the district's dress code. Iacono says its part of her religion. She and her mother belong to the "Church of Body Modification" -- a group that believes tattoos and piercings are essential religious practices. The ACLU filed a lawsuit alleging the school district is violating the family's constitutional rights to religious freedom. Iacono's lawyer argued in federal court the freshman should be able to return to class until the next hearing in the case, which is early November.

Wake School Board

School Board Vice Chair Debra Goldman broke ranks. Known to be a supporter of an assignment plan where students aren't bused for diversity but can go to schools closer to home, today she blasted the committee working on the new plan saying they were steam-rolling through the process without enough input from other board members and the public.

2:00 10/13/2010 5PM

Teacher Of The Week Sarah Young

It's the quietest entrance we've every made in presenting our Teacher of the Week Award. Students in Sarah Young's 5th grade language arts class were so busy reading, they barely noticed us walking in.

2:00 10/14/2010 NOON

Wake Education Partnership

This morning, the Wake Education Partnership held its annual meeting. Tony Wagner was the guest speaker. He's the co-director of the Change Leadership Group at the Harvard Grad School of Education. Wagner addressed many topics, including the school diversity issue in Wake County.

2:00 10/15/2010 5:30PM

Wake Superintendent Search

The search for Wake County's next school superintendent is moving along. The D.C. firm hired to conduct a nationwide search was prepared to present four names for consideration at last night's search committee meeting. But, the Committee fine-tuned the qualifications and criteria for the hiring process. The firm was asked to return in two weeks with a list of 5 to 10 candidates for review.

2:00 10/19/2010 5:30PM

FTCC Dress Code

For some young men, its hip to let your pants drop far south of your hips. But earth's gravitational pull sometimes requires a pull up at FTCC.

2:00 10/23/2010 6PM

Longer School Year

North Carolina law requires students to attend school at least 180 days with a thousand hours of instruction. Teachers at Dillard Drive Elementary School in Raleigh say it's about quality, not quantity.

2:00 10/25/2010 5PM

College Cheating Special Report

Colleges have long struggled with cheating. Most recently, some members of the UNC football team have been investigated for academic dishonesty. A few years back Duke saw the number of academic misconduct cases double in five years.

2:00 10/26/2010 5PM

NCSU Chancellor

Today Randy Woodson officially assumes the title of Chancellor at NC State University. The privately-funded installation ceremony takes place at 10:30 this morning in Reynolds Coliseum. Woodson will become the school's 14th Chancellor. All alumni and friends of the university are invited.

in the state to better prepare students for college, careers and life. The discussion's at 6:00 pm at the Fox and Hound next to Regal Cinemas North Hills. The screening begins at 7:25.

2:00 11/01/2010 6PM

Super Search

The search for a new Superintendent for Wake County Schools may move forward today. A Washington based recruiting firm is expected to present an initial list of up to 10 potential candidates. The search committee will meet this afternoon in closed session. That's because some candidates are being kept confidential due to their current positions.

2:00 11/09/2010 5:30PM

Wake Schools Protest

Falling balloons and sweeping Republican wins had School Board Chairman Ron Margiotta feeling bolstered. Even though the school board wasn't on the ballots, last Tuesday he declared that election victories showed voters had the board majority's back.

2:00 11/10/2010 5PM

Title Nine Complaint

A recent complaint has surfaced concerning girls participating in sports. A spokesman for Wake Schools says they'll take the complaint seriously but the District believes it does provide plenty of opportunities for girls in sports.

2:00 11/11/2010 NOON

Bus Driver Texting

State law bans anyone from driving and texting. Connie Hankins was fired from the Rockingham County School system. The Superintendent says the surveillance video shows she broke the rules. At times, she was going between 20 and 40 miles an hour. Hankins automatically loses her certification to drive a school bus.

2:00 11/16/2010 6PM

Wake Schools Meetings

How are Wake County students doing in comparison to students in other school districts? Today, school board members will compare the data. They will also get an update about the budget and student assignment for next year. And, even consider a policy about gangs. Later in the day, members will meet in a closed session.

2:00 11/18/2010 5:30PM

NAACP and Wake Schools

The complaint was filed by the NAACP in September. It claims the school board and district leaders are discriminating against "non-white" students, by abandoning a diversity-based assignment plan. Launching the investigation does not mean the U.S. Department of Education has found the claims to be true.

2:00 11/22/2010 5PM

Wake Assignment Feedback

The final community workshop regarding school assignment starts at 6:30 at Garner High and runs for two hours. Viewers are encouraged to register online through our link on WRAL.com or at the high school starting at 6:00 P-M.

2:00 11/24/2010 5PM

WRAL-TV5 Issues/Programs Quarterly Report
October 1, 2010 – December 31, 2010

2:00	11/29/2010	5PM
Bus Driver Mix-up
A Wake County bus driver is under investigation after a 6 year old was dropped off miles from his home. Officials say the East Garner Elementary student convinced his substitute teacher he was a bus rider, and boarded the bus Tuesday. The bus driver dropped him off 4 miles from home. A good Samaritan picked up the child and took him back to school, where his mother was waiting.
2:00	11/30/2010	5PM
Wake School Assignments
This of course is a departure from the current model which assigns students based on diversity. There is controversy over assigning based on proximity because there are critics of the board who believe student achievement is effected by school assignment. They believe ending diversity will create low-income schools. They will also be getting feedback from four community workshops held over a two week period. If the changes are approved they would take effect next year which is the third year of the current assignment plan.
2:00	12/01/2010	5PM
Teacher Of The Week
WRAL's Gerald Owens shows us why Christina Rudd's students think the former nerd is cool enough to be our Teacher of the Week.
2:00	12/02/2010	ALL PM
Daisy Bates Summit
National NAACP President Benjamin Jealous has been to Raleigh before to talk about issues involving Wake County schools. The group filed a federal complaint asking for an investigation into the new school assignment policy. The Board majority voted to send students to schools closest to their neighborhood, rather than busing students for diversity. NAACP leaders worry the change encourages resegregation.
2:00	12/04/2010	5PM
NAACP and Wake County Schools
NAACP president Ben Jealous joined other organization officials from across the country, vowing to fight the reversal of Wake County's school diversity policy with all the legal might and money they can muster.
2:00	12/06/2010	5PM
Wake Schools Federal Funding
It is one statement school board members agree on -- most of the thousands of students in proposed reassignments next year are minorities. School Board member John Tedesco says those minorities are asking for the move.
2:00	12/06/2010	5PM
School Funding
If you look closely, you may see the Wake County Board of Commissioners tilting slightly to the right. Republicans swept the election, sweeping in a new majority. There are new leaders - Paul Coble is the new chair, Phil Matthews is the new vice chair. At their first meeting, we hear about controversial changes.
2:00	12/08/2010	11PM
Finance Meeting

WRAL-TV5 Issues/Programs Quarterly Report October 1, 2010 – December 31, 2010

Ideas to bring in more money stretch from the bus to the ball field. Extra fees to ride the bus, park a car at school or play sports. Even possible fees for older students to leave campus at lunch to grab a bite. Right now, these are just "last resort" ideas.

2:00 12/09/2010 5:30PM

Fuquay Student Hit By Car

We begin with new information about car crash involving a Wake County high school student. We've learned 18-year-old Jorge Chavarria died this morning at Wake Med. Investigators say he was walking in front of Fuquay Varina high school yesterday when he was hit by a car driven by a teacher.

Testing Irregularities

A teacher at Southwest Edgecombe High School has resigned, and the school's principal and testing coordinator were suspended as part of an investigation into inappropriate testing procedures at the school, Edgecombe County Public Schools officials said Wednesday.

2:00 12/15/2010 11PM

Cancel Or Delay School?

The decision to delay or cancel school affects thousands of students, teachers and employees. Officials in Wake County also don't take it lightly.

2:00 12/15/2010 5PM

UNC System President

The New Year will bring a new leader to the UNC System. Tom Ross will take over as President from the retiring Erskine Bowles. Bowles has been a critical figure in fighting for the 17 schools in the system, especially in this economy. Erin Hartness is the only television reporter to sit down with Bowles, to talk about his future, and the future of the system.

2:00 12/15/2010 5PM

Wake School Board

It was an issue of heated debate right from opening comments. At this meeting the Wake County School board is trying to come up with proposed reassignment plans to take into public comment hearings next month. An early voted limited the scope of those possible assignments. The board voted 5 to 4 not to consider changes for certain districts that would include some Southeast Raleigh students. Opponents, including school board member Keith Sutton, argue that would have a negative impact on diversity.

Childcare Scholarships
Parents who use the state's early childhood education scholarship programs face tough decisions after funding for the program ran out Friday. Kathryn Mason paid for her 2-year-old son Christopher to attend a child care academy in Durham with a Smart Start scholarship.
2:00	12/21/2010	11PM
Wake Schools Budget Ideas
From changing the light bulbs to canceling school lunches, parents of Wake County students offered creative suggestions to help the school system save money next year. The Wake County Public School System faces an estimated $70 million to $100 million budget shortfall next year, due to a lack of county, state and federal funding
2:00	12/21/2010	6PM
School Bus Seat Belts
Police have charged a school bus driver with rear-ending another bus on Monday in Cary. The chain-reaction sent 35 students to the hospital. The type of crash is exactly what the state's school buses are built for, said Derek Graham, chief of the Transportation Services Section in the North Carolina Department of Public Instruction. Graham said the front-to-rear collision damaged the buses badly enough that they weren't drivable, but the students bumped into the foam-covered seatbacks, which absorbed the impact.
2:00	12/23/2010	11PM
Wake Schools New Superintendent
The Wake County Board of Education named a new leader Thursday for the state's largest school system. Anthony J. Tata, a former U.S. Army officer and a leader in the Washington, D.C. school system was tapped to take over the reins of Wake County schools.
2:00	12/24/2010	5PM
Controversy About Wake Superintendent
The head of the North Carolina chapter of the NAACP voiced his concerns Friday about the appointment of a new leader for the Wake County Public School System. During a special meeting Thursday afternoon, the board voted 4-2 to hire Anthony Tata, a retired U.S. Army officer and the chief operating officer of the District of Columbia Public Schools, to replace Del Burns, who resigned in June.

JAMA CPR Hands Only
 Researchers in Arizona find that more bystanders are willing to help a cardiac arrest victim when they know they can use "chest compression only" CPR (without rescue breathing). Studies show that 80% of those patients leave the hospital in good shape.

2:00 10/06/2010 5:30PM
MRSA Kids
 WakeMed Children's Hospital medical director says the most common skin infections they see is MRSA, a staph infection resistant to standard antibiotics. Parents need to recognize early signs and get it checked. Doctors need to always consider MRSA as a possibility and test for it.

2:00 10/07/2010 5:30PM
Muscular Dystrophy Discovery
 Most of us have grown up watching telethons aimed at finding a cure for Muscular Dystrophy with the most severe forms appearing in children. Now research at UNC has uncovered a surprising aspect of the disease. WRAL's Dr. Allen Mask reports that this represents a new direction for researchers to find help for these patients.

2:00 10/08/2010 5:30PM
Asthma Treatment
 About 22 million Americans have asthma. Most are able to control it with medication, but about 15 percent of asthma patients have cases so severe they require frequent trips to the hospital. Dr. Allen Mask explains, now there's a new treatment to help those people breathe easier.

Genetic Tests

If you've been seeing a lot of pink lately - it's because October is breast cancer awareness month. A new way of predicting the cancer is causing controversy -- home DNA test kits. As WRAL's Dr. Allen Mask explains, some patients say it is saving lives.

2:00 10/18/2010 5:30PM

Child Seats

Car seats have saved many children in the 25 years since they came into widespread use. But using a seat is not enough. Most importantly, it's how the seat is installed and whether it's the right one for your child. WRAL's Dr. Allen Mask explains that you may need expert help to ensure your child's safety.

2:00 10/19/2010 5:30PM

Surgery Teamwork

It takes team work and communication to do things right. As WRAL's Dr. Allen Mask explains, a new research looked at how training is helping keep surgical patients alive.

2:00 10/20/2010 5:30PM

Flu Cocoon

Many children cannot get the flu vaccine because they're allergic to eggs or they're too sick to get it. UNC docs are making sure parents, relatives and caregivers of their pediatric patients get the vaccine to make sure they aren't exposed to the virus

2:00 10/20/2010 5:30PM

House Calls

House calls used to be normal practice. But in the 20th century health care became concentrated in clinics and hospitals as the population grew. But as WRAL's Dr. Allen Mask explains, house calls are coming back.

2:00 10/26/2010 5:30PM

Obese Exercise Diet

With all the talk about candy this weekend, it might be an appropriate time to talk about weight. Nearly 3 out of 4 Americans are overweight or obese. It's a major health concern. As WRAL's Dr. Allen Mask explains, researchers looked at whether diet and exercise can still be an answer for those with severe obesity.

2:00 10/27/2010 5:30PM

Tinnitus

Many people hear a constant annoying ring in their head that others around them don't hear. Tinnitus leads 12 million Americans to seek medical help - but there's no absolute cure. WRAL's Dr. Allen Mask shows us a new type of therapy is offering patients precious relief.

2:00 10/29/2010 NOON

Juvenile Diabetes

We've heard a lot about Type 2 diabetes. It's a form of the disease that can be prevented or helped, with healthier lifestyles. But Type 1 or juvenile diabetes-- cannot be prevented. As Dr. Allen Mask reports, for patients, the greatest hope is for researchers to find a cure or to create technology to help them manage their disease.

2:00 10/29/2010 5:30PM

2:00 National Races The results show voters' discontent with the economy and are skeptical about the future under Democratic control. Republicans must gain 39 seats to win control of the House. If Republicans win 10 seats without losing any of their own, they will be the Senate's new majority party. A nine seat gain would produce a 50-50 tie that Vice President Joe Biden, the Senate's official president, would break in the Democrats' favor.	11/02/2010	5PM

48 HOURS MYSTERY: "fugitive@hotmail.com" - a report on the three-year international manhunt and eventual capture of Dr. Yazeed "Yaz" Essa, a Cleveland doctor accused of murdering his wife, Rosemarie. In February 2005, Rosemarie, the mother of Essa's two children, was in a minor car accident. She suffered no physical injuries, but she passed out and shortly afterwards died in a Cleveland hospital. Her best friend, Eva McGregor, voiced her own suspicion that Essa had tampered with the calcium supplements that Rosemarie had taken on the morning of her death. Weeks later, tests of the calcium tablets proved that she had died of cyanide poisoning. Police went to charge Essa, but he had fled from the U.S. to Canada and eventually to Beirut, Lebanon, where he hid, knowing that he could not be extradited back to the U.S. In October 2006, he went to Cyprus, a country that does have an extradition treaty with the U.S. Interpol and the FBI alerted the Cyprus police that Essa was traveling under an alias; he was apprehended at the Larnaca airport and brought in for questioning and fingerprinting. His true identity was established, and he was arrested for using a doctored passport and held in a Cyprus prison. He fought extradition for two years but was returned to the U.S. In January 2010 his trial began. His protector in the Middle East and Essa's brother, Firas, both testified that Essa had told them that he had killed his wife by putting cyanide in her calcium pills. He was found guilty of aggravated murder and sentenced to life in prison with the possibility of parole in twenty years. Onscreen graphic at conclusion: The Essa family has asked to visit the children. For now, Rosemarie's family won't allow it. After the trial, the children were told

48 HOURS MYSTERY: "The Whole Truth" - a report on the 26-year effort of Bruce Lisker to overturn his conviction for the 1983 murder of his mother. In March 1983, 17-year-old Bruce Lisker hysterically called 911 to tell Los Angeles police that he had found his mother, Dorka Lisker, beaten severely and stabbed in her Sherman Oaks home. Police arrived to find him hysterical and on drugs. They arrested him, and a young detective, Andrew Monsue, proceeded to build a case against Bruce. Bruce's father believed that his son was innocent, and urged police to investigate Bruce's friend Mike Ryan, a 15-year-old with a criminal record, who had gone to the house to see Bruce's mother the day before. But Monsue focused on Bruce, and presented what he maintained was evidence that Bruce was guilty. Bruce was tried as an adult; the jury found him guilty and he was sentenced to 16 years to life. In 1999, Bruce, still in prison, hired ex-cop-turned-private-investigator Paul Ingels to help him overturn his conviction. With the aid of then-Sgt. Jim Gavin of the Los Angeles Police Department, Ingels discovered that the evidence against Bruce had apparently been fabricated. Ingels and Gavin gave their findings to the LA Times, and on May 22, 2005, the newspaper ran an article questioning the evidence that had put Lisker behind bars. Two months later, a federal judge granted a hearing to consider new evidence in the case. Four years passed, and in August 2009 a federal judge ruled that Lisker had been convicted on false evidence and must be retried or set free. On August 17, 2009, he was set free on bail. Six weeks later, he went back to court, at which time the prosecutor said that too much time has passed to retry the case and they had no choice but to dismiss the charges. One year later, the state asked the court to return Lisker to prison based on a technicality arguing that Lisker was late filing his petition for release. A judge rejected that motion. Concluding onscreen graphics: Bruce Lisker remains free...for now. 48 HOURS MYSTERY - "The One Who Got Away" - a report about how serial killer Andrew Urdiales was identified, arrested and convicted, and about the young woman who became the only one of his victims to survive. Between 1986 and 1996, Andrew Urdiales attacked, tortured and killed eight women, first in California and then in Illinois. His first victim was Robbin Brandley of Mission Viejo, California. In 1992, he charmed 19-year-old Jennifer Asbenson, potentially his ninth victim, who accepted a ride from a seemingly kind stranger and was then driven into the California desert, where she was tortured, made to perform sexual acts and strangled, then put in the trunk of his car. Summoning all the strength she had, she escaped and found safety when a passing truck stopped and rescued her. Urdiales disappeared. In 1997, Chicago police were interested when they received a tip from a prostitute that a client had wanted to tie her up, place her in the trunk of his car, and then drive her out to Wolf Lake. Prior to the tip, the bodies of three other women had been discovered in the lake, all killed with the same gun. The client turned out to be Andrew Urdiales and the gun used in the murders belonged to him. Chicago police brought him in for questioning and Urdiales matter-of-factly confessed to eight unsolved murders in Illinois and California, including Robbin Brandley's and the attack on Jennifer Asbenson. Fifteen years after her attack, Jennifer Asbenson faced Urdiales in a Chicago courtroom; a jury convicted Urdiales and sentenced him to death. California authorities must wait until the appeals process is completed in Illinois, before they can begin their proceedings against him. Onscreen graphic: Andrew Urdiales remains on death row in Illinois. Jennifer Asbenson is writing a book about her life. Interviewed: Jennifer Asbenson, Genelle and Jack Reilley, Robbin Brandley's parents, Jayeson Brandley, Robbin's brother, Helen Moreno, supervising investigator with the Orange County DA's office; Howard Gundy, Orange County Deputy Attorney, Palm Springs Lieutenant John Booth; Chicago Homicide Detective Don McGrath; Cook County Assistant State's Attorney Jim McKay; Jennifer Asbenson's daughter Augusta.

48 HOURS MYSTERY: "The Preacher's Wife" (9:00-10:00pm) - In April 2006, Matt Baker, a pastor from Waco, Texas, returned home to find his wife Kari unconscious, with an empty bottle of Unisom and a suicide note beside her. Paramedics arrived within minutes, but it was too late. Based on the note, the empty bottle of sleeping pills, and the fact that Kari was described as still struggling with the loss of her daughter Kassidy seven years ago, police ruled it a suicide. In a county with no medical examiner, police described the case over the phone to a justice of the peace, who determined that no autopsy was needed. Kari's parents, Jim and Linda Dulin, had no choice but to believe Matt. However, Linda's sisters, Nancy, Kay, and Jennifer, and niece Lindsey believed otherwise. Dubbed "Charlie's Angels", they began their own investigation. After uncovering a possible motive, Linda hired Bill Johnston, a dogged former federal prosecutor, had her daughter's body exhumed and autopsied, and filed a wrongful death suit against Matt. Five months after Kari's death, the justice of the peace declared that her death was no longer classified as a suicide and police subsequently arrested and charged Matt with murder. Believing Matt would be tried in criminal court, Linda dropped her wrongful death suit. After six months, the district attorney still hadn't taken Matt's case to a grand jury -- a requirement under Texas law. Linda eventually refiled the wrongful death suit, shortly before attorney Guy James Gray filed a successful motion to dismiss Matt's criminal case, as a grand jury indictment had not been returned within 180 days. Matt Baker is no longer charged with any crime, though the district attorney continues to investigate and could refile criminal charges. There is no statute of limitations for murder. (C: Erin Moriarty - P: Lisa Freed, Gail Abbott Zimmerman) (OAD: 05/10/08; 1st Rebroadcast: 06/09/09). Update for the 06/09/09 rebroadcast: On March 25, 2009, a grand jury indicted Baker for the murder of his wife, after a surprise witness -- Vanessa Bulls, a girlfriend of his -- came forward and testified. He will go on trial in September. Graphic postscript: Baker was released from jail on $250,000 bond, pending trial. He's again living in Kerrville, Texas, with his parents and daughters.

In April 2006, Matt Baker, a pastor from Waco, Texas, returned home to find his wife Kari unconscious, with an empty bottle of Unisom and a suicide note beside her. Based on the note, the empty bottle of sleeping pills, and the fact that Kari was described as still struggling with the loss of her daughter Kassidy seven years ago, police ruled it a suicide. Linda Dulin, Kari's mother, was convinced she had been murdered and set out to prove it by hiring attorney Bill Johnston and his team of investigators, who had Kari's body exhumed and autopsied. Five months after Kari's death, the justice of the peace declared that her death was no longer classified as a suicide. In September 2007, the police felt they had a homicide on their hands and Matt Baker was arrested and charged with murder. He was released on bond, thanks to attorney Guy James Gray, who took the case pro bono. However, six months later, assistant district attorney Crawford Long dropped the murder charges because the evidence was too speculative. Unwilling to give up, Linda Dulin decided to again sue Matt for wrongful death. Bill Johnston, assistant district attorney Long and prosecutor Susan Shafer continued to investigate. Armed with new information and damning testimony provided to the grand jury by Vanessa Bulls, a woman long suspected of having an affair with Matt before Kari's death, prosecutors were able to arrest Matt and charge him with murder. At the trial, it was revealed that Matt told Vanessa how he planned to murder Kari, the reason why, and even the exact date, but Vanessa chose not to notify the authorities. After seven hours of deliberation, the jury found Matt Baker guilty of first-degree murder. He was sentenced to 65 years with the possibility of parole. Matt still insists he did not kill his wife. The Bakers' daughters live with Matt's parents, where they want to stay. Kari's parents are now fighting for custody of the girls. Onscreen graphics: In January a jury will decide who will get custody of Kari Baker's daughters. No charges will be filed against Vanessa Bulls. After testifying, she lost her job as a teacher. Matt Baker is appealing the verdict. 48 HOURS MYSTERY: "Taken: The Amber Dubois Story" - a report on the February 13, 2009 disappearance of Amber Dubois, just blocks from Escondido High School in Southern California. 48 HOURS examines the permanent impact her disappearance has had on her family, even after the discovery and conviction of the murderer. Initially, with no clues as to her whereabouts, investigators began to look at her mother Carrie McGonigle's live-in boyfriend, Dave Cave as a person of interest. Carrie herself and Amber's father, Moe Dubois, soon began believing that Cave was responsible for Amber's disappearance. Almost a year later, another teenage girl, Chelsea King, went missing. Chelsea had been running just ten miles from where Amber disappeared. Police quickly found Chelsea's underwear with DNA evidence that would lead them to the arrest of convicted sex offender John Gardner, who was out on parole. Gardner was then also identified by another woman, Candice Moncayo, as the man who attacked her on the same jogging trail just two months earlier. Then police found Chelsea's body and Gardner was charged with her murder.

and the attack against Moncayo. Under interrogation and facing the death penalty for the murder of Chelsea, Gardner agreed to lead police to Amber's body in exchange for avoiding the death penalty. John Gardner was convicted of both Amber's and Chelsea's murders and sentenced to life in prison without the possibility of parole. In his exclusive interview with 48 HOURS MYSTERY, he recounted the day he murdered Amber and admitted he is the most dangerous type of sexual predator. He said he needs to be locked up forever. 48 HOURS MYSTERY: "Chasing the Barefoot Bandit" - A report on Colton Harris-Moore, also known as the "Barefoot Bandit," because of his habit of committing crimes barefoot and leaving chalk outlines of his feet; and whose criminal exploits included stealing planes, guns, yachts, and even escaping to foreign countries. His exploits reminded many of legendary outlaws like Jesse James, and as news of his crimes spread beyond the Pacific Northwest, his popularity grew, even spawning Facebook fan pages. Born on Camano Island, Washington, Harris-Moore was an unpopular teen, physically neglected and mentally abused by his mother, Pam Kohler. He wanted to become a pilot, but instead turned to a life of crime at age 10, stealing laptops, cell phones, and jewelry. He was arrested and sent to a halfway house, but escaped custody and continued breaking into vacation homes and leaving his mark. He even ordered a DVD on learning to fly a plane with a stolen credit card. In 2008, he stole his first plane, crashing it 250 miles away from where he stole it, and simply walked away. He then worked in Las Vegas, then went to Canada and stole guns. In 2009, he stole his second plane, and the legend of Colton Harris-Moore was born. After stealing his third plane, the Department of Homeland Security joined in the hunt; but he still avoided capture. In 2010, he stole an airplane in Bloomington, Indiana and flew it to Abaco Island in the Bahamas, where he continued to commit break-ins. While 48 HOURS was on his trail in the Bahamas, he allegedly stole a yacht and escaped to the nearby Bahamian island of Eleuthera. He was spotted by some local teens who, knowing about the $10,000 reward offered for his capture, chased him by boat. Police joined in the hunt, and Harris-Moore was finally captured. Deported from the Bahamas, he is was returned to the U.S., where he was indicted on federal charges for stealing two planes, guns, a boat and flying without a license. He faces ten years behind bars. Onscreen graphics: Colton Harris-Moore will be arraigned Thursday in federal court. He faces additional charges in several states. Colton and his mother have not seen each other since his arrest. She's had offers to buy Colton's story and has hired a well-known entertainment lawyer. Interviewed: Ashley Martin, childhood friend of Colton; Jessica Wesson, classmate; Paul Ciolino, 48 HOURS investigator; Bob Friel, Harris-Moore biographer; Jacquie Staggs, friend of Colton's mother; Harley Davidson Ironwing, burglary accomplice; Colleen Armstrong, editor of the local newspaper on Orcas Island; Kyle Ater, owner of the Orcas Homegrown Market, allegedly burglarized by Colton; Suzanne Vidal, local realtor; Marion Rathbone, operator of Vern's restaurant; Bob Rivers, Seattle radio personality and owner of the first stolen plane; Hi Stickney, Kelly Kneifl, Kristen Jones, Gary Martin

48 HOURS MYSTERY: "Secrets, Lies and Alibis" - On August 22, 2004, John and Susan Sutton had a family get together in their Coral Gables, Florida home, that included their son Christopher, his girlfriend Juliette Driscoll, and Teddy Montoto, John's law partner and friend. Afterwards, when Teddy had left and John and Juliette had gone to a movie, John and Susan retired to separate bedrooms -- Susan often slept in the second room because John snored. Sometime later in the evening, a gunman entered their bedrooms and shot both of them several times. Susan was killed, but John survived. Nothing was taken from the house – not money, nor jewelry. There was no doubt that this was a premeditated effort to make sure that they were dead. Police interrogation of Teddy Montoto revealed that he had been having an affair with Susan, but further investigation eliminated him as a suspect. Interviews with some of John's closest friends suggested that the Suttons' son, Christopher, should be investigated as a suspect. He had been sent to a behavioral program, Paradise Cove, on the Polynesian islands of Samoa, when he was 16. He claims he was abused there and tried to tell his parents about it, but they didn't believe him, and he was kept there until he was 19. He became the prime suspect. After checking his cell phone records, authorities noticed more than 300 calls to his friend Garrett Kopp, who had been arrested less than 24 hours after the Suttons shooting for attacking someone else with a gun. That turned out to be the same gun that was used to shoot the Suttons. Kopp told police that he was hired by his friend Christopher Sutton to kill his parents. Christopher's then-fiancée Juliette Driscoll told the police that Christopher had a deep-seated resentment towards his parents for sending him to Samoa. She said he often spoke of how great their lives would be if his parents were dead. Garrett Kopp and Juliette Driscoll testified against Christopher in court. Christopher claimed that Kopp had gone to the Suttons' house to steal marijuana and that Driscoll testified against him because she had been threatened by police. After a day and a half of deliberations,

48 HOURS MYSTERY: "Shootout at the Hills" - a report on the November 14, 2006 shooting of Danny Hill, by his wife, Charlene. Charlene claimed that their seemingly happy life together was all a facade and that she shot him in self-defense, as Danny came at her after an argument. Charlene's years of suffering physical abuse from Danny was well documented by police reports and hospital visits. Their children -- sons Jeremy (from a previous marriage), Joby, and daughter Jamie -- even admitted that their father, Danny, was abusive, but that he had mellowed after he and their mother had survived a near-fatal motorcycle accident in August 2003 and that their mother had often instigated the arguments, leaving Danny with no choice but to react the way he did. Arrested for her husband's murder, Charlene faced life in prison. Months before the trial began, her son, Joby, committed suicide on the eve of his 27th birthday. Joby was supposed to be a witness for the prosecution, but according to his brother Jeremy, dreaded the thought of testifying. At the trial, prosecutors questioned Charlene's claim of self-defense and claimed that the multi-million dollar estate was the motive. Defense attorney George Parnham believed that her children's desire to gain control of the family fortune drove them to testify against their mother and was able to get Jeremy to reveal that a million dollars Charlene had transferred to him for safekeeping was withdrawn and split with his siblings to pay off debts -- all without his mother's knowledge. The jury deliberated for two days, before the judge declared a mistrial due to the lone juror who believed in Charlene's innocence. In addition to the criminal trial, Charlene also faced a wrongful death lawsuit from Jeremy, Jamie and Danny's mother, Barbara Graham. Onscreen graphics: The Hill family's civil suit has been settled. Charlene Hill's new trial is slated for January. Interviewed: Charlene

48 HOURS MYSTERY: LIVE TO TELL: "Full Moon" - On the night of August 28, 1996, Yvette Rodier and her friend, Zach Snarr, went up to the mountains outside of Salt Lake City, Utah for their first date. Their special plans to take pictures of the full moon were interrupted when a stranger drove up, pulled out a gun and opened fire, emptying every bullet out of his gun. Zach was killed. Yvette, who was shot four times, survived by pretending to be dead. Within days of the shootings, authorities caught 19-year-old Jorge Benvenuto, whose reason for the attack was for the thrill of watching them die. He expressed disappointment when he found out one of his victims had lived. It took Yvette three years and five operations to repair her physical injuries that still left her with permanent nerve damage. She faced her attacker in court. Prosecutors had planned to request the death penalty. Benvenuto asked for a plea bargain and, upon consideration, Zach's family agreed to this in exchange for a life sentence in prison without parole. Afterwards, Benvenuto filed several appeals, saying he had been depressed when he agreed to the plea bargain. He lost these several appeals. Yvette became a lawyer so she could help other victims. 48 HOURS MYSTERY: LIVE TO TELL: "The Railroad Killer" - A report on the August 29, 1997 attack on two University of Kentucky students as they walked along the railroad tracks in Lexington, Kentucky. Chris Maier was killed by his attacker who then proceeded to stab, beat, and rape Holly Dunn, who miraculously survived her injuries. Fourteen months after Holly's attack, Dr. Claudia Benton was murdered inside her Houston, Texas area home, located near railroad tracks. Lexington Detective Craig Sorrell received a call from ViCAP, a national crime registry database, linking the crimes. Through fingerprint analysis, they identified Rafael Resendez-Ramirez as the suspect. After his arrest, he was ultimately identified as Angel Maturino Resendiz. His trial started in May of 2000 in Houston; he was found guilty of capital murder. Holly testified in the penalty phase of the trial and identified Resendiz in court. The jury decided he was a future danger to society and the judge sentenced him to death. He was executed in June of 2006. Holly chose not to attend the execution. She has dedicated her life to helping other victims and founded Holly's House, a child and adult advocacy center in Evansville, Indiana.  48 HOURS MYSTERY: "In Too Deep" - a followup to "In Too Deep" (OAD: 01/22/08), presenting a further examination of the story of Laura Hall, who was convicted and sent to prison for the crime of dismembering the body of Jennifer Cave in 2005. As previously detailed, she admitted to going to the apartment of her boyfriend Colton Pitonyak, at his request, and was confronted with the dead body of Cave in the bathtub. She then -- out of fear for her own life, she says -- drove Pitonyak, at his insistence, to Mexico. After their arrest, Hall was interrogated and charged with hindering the apprehension of Pitonyak. At his own trial, Pitonyak implied that Hall took part in the dismemberment of Jennifer Cave's body after her death. Put on trial for this crime, and for helping Pitonyak escape, she was found guilty and sentenced to five years in prison. However, after 17 months in jail, Laura Hall was released because a court ruled that her sentencing hearing wasn't fair. Her conviction was upheld and she is out on bond while prosecutors fight to put her back in jail. She could be sentenced to more time or released. And Pitonyak's new lawyer, says that they have new evidence and that Hall is also responsible for the murder. At Hall's new hearing, the judge rules against her: she's going back to jail. Her sentencing is set for May 2010, where she faces up to ten years in prison. Unless he wins a new trial, Pitonyak will be eligible for parole in 2033. Update for the 12/18/10 rebroadcast: In June 2010 Laura Hall was sentenced to confinement in the Texas Department of Criminal Justice for a period of ten years. Onscreen graphics update: Colton Pitonyak's case is still under appeal. Laura Hall's projected release date is March 26, 2014. She will be 30 years old. Included interviews with Laura Hall; Sharon and Jim Sedwick, Jennifer Cave's mother and step-father; Loren and Carol Hall, parents of Laura Hall; Joe James Sawyer, Hall's attorney; Bill Bishop, prosecutor; Joe Turner, Pitonyak's attorney.

60 MINUTES PRESENTS: "Into The Wild"

"The Great Migration" - a report on the wildebeest migration across the volcanic plain of the Masai Mara in Kenya and the dangers that confront them. These include predators and the low water level in the Mara River, caused by the destruction of the Mau Forest for human agricultural needs and the burning of the trees for charcoal. Interviewed: Robin Reid, scientist, Colorado State University; John Sena, resident of the Mau Forest; Dickson Kaelo, who works for a non-profit foundation that's paying the Masai to turn over management of their land to a wildlife conservancy. (C: Scott Pelley - P: Henry Schuster, Rebecca Peterson) (OAD: 10/04/09 on 60 MINUTES)

"The Secret Language of Elephants" - a report on efforts to decipher the meaning of sounds made by elephants, with the ultimate intention of compiling an elephant language dictionary. Includes an interview with Andrea Turkalo, an American scientist studying forest elephants in Central Africa; Peter Wrege, behavioral biologist, Cornell University; Katy Payne, founder, Elephant Listening Project. (C: Bob Simon - P: Harry A. Radcliffe II) (OAD: 01/03/10 on 60 MINUTES)

"B-Rex" - an interview with Jack Horner, who consulted on all of the "Jurassic Park" movies and is considered to be one of the most prominent and controversial paleontologists in the United States. Concerned more with how dinosaurs lived, than why they went extinct, he studies their biology and what they were like as living creatures. Credited with providing the evidence that dinosaurs have evolved into what we now know as birds, Horner has proposed a plan to mine ancestral dinosaur DNA as a way to reverse-engineer a chicken into what he calls a "dino-chicken". Also interviewed: University of Wisconsin Professor Sean Carroll; North Carolina State University Professor Mary Schweitzer, protégé of Horner, who studies the internal makeup of ancient bone; and Bob Harmon, a member of Horner's team.

Mobile Drug Test

The SBI Crime Lab remains under fire after an independent audit questioned evidence analyzed by agents. Now, defense attorneys are going after evidence analysis linked to a private company here in the Triangle. Tonight WRAL Investigates Nartest, a business that sells drug testing equipment to North Carolina law enforcement. Because of the appeals and uncertainty about the science, most courts won't admit Nartest identified narcotics. Nartest compares the dispute to breathalyzers that were questioned for years, yet are now regularly admitted in drunk driving cases.

Prescription Drug Abuse

Unintentional drug overdoses are the second leading cause of accidental deaths in North Carolina behind car crashes. More than two thirds of those deaths involve drugs that most of us have in our homes. The state has a tool to track prescription drug abuse and so-called doctor shopping. As Kelcey Carlson reports, some argue the tool isn't being used enough.

NC Aware and Serial Robbers

We've spent the day investigating Lee Pope's background. This is not his first arrest, and it's not his first bank robbery arrest. It also turns out Pope was already wanted for a probation violation. For years, one of the biggest issues facing law enforcement in our state was the lack of a main database to track offenders, unserved warrants, or pending charges in multiple counties. Consider in the Pope case, there were arrests for bad checks and drugs, and a probation violation that didn't come up in a traffic stop. That's why the state court system created NC Aware.

Stories of Honor

World War two was the defining moment of the 20th century. More than 16 million soldiers, sailors, Marines and airmen served in the war and more than 400,000 lost their lives. They have become known as the greatest generation for their service and their sacrifice. In 2004 a national memorial was dedicated on the mall in Washington D.C. in their honor.

The Triangle Flight of Honor is a non-profit, volunteer organization that is flying World War Two veterans to Washington D.C. to see the memorial. While the organization serves veterans of all wars, special priority is being given to World War Two veterans because nationwide they are dying at a rate of 1200 a day. Flights, ground transportation and personal assistance are offered free of charge to veterans who might not otherwise have the opportunity to see the memorial in their lifetime.

"Stories of Honor" is a half-hour documentary profiling three veterans who are making the flight and tells their powerful stories as they visit the National World War Two Memorial in Washington. WRAL News Anchor Kelcey Carlson hosts the documentary.

The Perfect Tree

North Carolina is first in the nation in Christmas tree sales and second in the nation in total harvest. It's become a huge industry in our state over just a few decades. There are about 1600 farmers growing about 50 million trees on 31,000 acres. The industry raked in $134 million in 2006. The Fraser fir accounts for about 95% of those sales and is the main reason for the success of the Christmas tree industry in our state. The Fraser fir is native to North Carolina and is what most Americans consider "the perfect tree".

"The Perfect Tree" takes viewers inside North Carolina's Christmas industry, from massive, commercial, wholesale operations to small choose and cut farms. It looks at how researchers and agricultural extension agents have worked to help tree farmers grow the perfect tree. It looks at the environmental impact of tree farms and the move to organic farming. The documentary profiles growers and their farms and follows trees from the fields to the homes of North Carolinians. One of those trips follows a Fraser fir from a field in Ashe County to the Blue Room of the White House. The program also examines what different people see in "the perfect tree".

"The Perfect Tree" is hosted by WRAL News anchor Bill Leslie.
